

FOR PRESIDENT,
BENJ. F. HARRISON
OF INDIANA.
FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
LEVI P. MORTON
OF NEW YORK.

A WINNER NOMINATED.

The selection of Benjamin Harrison, of Indiana, as the Republican Standard bearer in the National Campaign is a notice to the Democracy that they must vacate the White House on the 1st of next March.

The gathering at Chicago was as representative a body of Republicans as ever gathered to map out a battle line for a National campaign.

At the back of all this confusion, tumult and rivalry incidental to such a contest there were clear heads and steady hands to guide the Convention along the track of wise counsel and duty to the country.

Individual preferences, popularity and the aimless clash of applauding hands in the galleries were taken little notice of and the Convention settled down fully to the political proposition that Indiana was wanted in November and that a strong man from that State was one of the needs of the hour.

So out of chaos and confusion came the result of the 8th ballot a result which the sober second thought of every Republican in the country will endorse.

The APPEAL congratulates the leaders of the Nevada delegation for their firm stand against Blaine and Sherman.

Blaine would have aroused all the old party antagonisms of 1884 and Sherman the ice-burg of Ohio with his Wall street backing and hatred of Silver would have lead the Pacific coast to a Waterloo defeat. As the fight is made now the coast is safe for the ticket.

Creed Haymond and M. H. De-Young did not represent the sentiment of the people here and their childish advocacy of Blaine after his thrice repeated refusals was ridiculous.

Stewart and Jones had both the Sherman and Blaine crowd to fight and the result shows how well they did their work and the voice of Nevada while not so loud in the Convention as that of California was listened to with much more respectful attention.

Morton of New York the Vice Presidential candidate will carry the Empire State by a heavy majority.

Harrison and Morton make a ticket strong at both ends.

MISLEADING TARIFF FIGURES.
Last week the Examiner made a telling argument on the Free Trade question, and showed a startling array of facts and figures.

It was very convincing until the Post showed that the figures were wrong.

It quited the wages of men in a sugar refinery at $1 25 per day. The Post sent a man right over to the sugar refinery and found that the rate of wages was $250 just double the Examiner's estimate.

The Examiner says it got its figures out of a book.

If that journal expects to make any free-trade argument it must not depend on free trade books published 25 years ago by tariff tinkering cranks.

It must take the wages of men who are still at work.

The old books on free trade published years ago have been called in and sold to the paper mills.

No doubt the Lick paper mill which furnishes the Examiner with immense rolls of paper, has ground up thousands of these old free trade pamphlets to be made over into blank paper for the Examiner.

The Examiner may use these paper again but it should be careful not to use the ideas again.

The old paper can be made over but the ideas which used to be printed on it are absolutely dead.

Exit Sherman.
Yesterday marked the everlasting retirement of John Sherman from politics.
Over and over again he has presented his name to the National conventions and has always been defeated. This time he was backed solidly by his own State and for awhile was the leading horse in the race, but as usual he went to pieces at the three-quarter pole and it is doubtful if he ever again appears on a Presidential track.
Stewart's exposure of the dishonest manipulations by which silver was demonetized and Sherman's inability to disprove the charges laid him out as a Presidential candidate.

Nevada and the Pacific coast has every reason to congratulate itself on the fact that John Sherman's scalp has been hung up in the Republican wigwam.

No one can sell himself to the gold bugs of Wall street and ever be considered a safe man to trust in politics.

Again, the servile nature of his work and the abjectness of his slavery to his mono-metallic task masters made him everywhere on this coast the object of every honest man's contempt.
